Heirloom Ornaments by

CHRISTOPHER RADKO

INTRODUCING
1997 EDITIONS

There's no mistaking a glass ornament designed by artist Christopher Radko. The warm luster, the fine detail and vintage appearance transport us to an earlier, less hurried time when such treasures were made by hand and craftsmen took great pride in their work. Indeed, these one-of-a-kind ornaments all are handmade in Poland, where master glassworkers — using near-forgotten, 19th-century methods — require a full week to produce each ornament. Mouth blown, silvered and hand-painted, each design is a tribute to Disney's timeless characters. No doubt they will become a cherished part of your family's holiday celebrations for generations to come.
